

Health and Social Care

Health and social care is part of everybody's life, from the moment we're born. Our goal is to help you inspire learners to work in a sector which has such a huge impact on people, providing them with rewarding careers in the process.

Studying a BTEC in Health and Social Care will prepare your learners for various pathways into the sector, providing them with a flexible range of skills.

I've been teaching BTEC since 2002 and I don't think I will ever change now because I believe it offers so much to the students and as a teacher, I love the flexibility it offers. I find it so interesting to teach because there is so much you can do within each topic area and the students love the interactivity.
